Count yourself lucky if you get an opportunity to study abroad. However, there are those who are afraid to leave the comfort of home for fear they cannot fit into the new environment.

It is not difficult to adapt to a new place if you know what to do and what to look out for. When you are overseas, you will encounter many new things and experiences. You might even need to adopt certain practices which may be totally different from yours. It would be easier for you if you keep an open mind. However, while keeping an open mind is important, you must know what's right for you, what your values are and stick to them. You also need to be disciplined, as you are now left very much on your own and are responsible for your own self.

Whenever possible, as long as it does not interfere with your studies, have fun and take part in the activities that your university offers. Nonetheless, make sure you are able to manage your social life and your studies. Prioritize on what's most important and make sure you are able to balance everything.
